

This Night
By Maddy Cockin

Delicate shadows stir the air as they move through the night
Blackness envelopes everything
Shadows upon shadows upon shadows
Small things scurry about, until one is caught by a black shape,
It is carried away.
Then more shadows feast
This night's hunger is satisfied.